

SOCIAL MEDIA REMODEL · PREPARED BY JAKE FOR SHAVIT ROOTMAN

WHAT YOUR SOCIALS BECOME.

You're already on Instagram, Facebook, LinkedIn and Substack, and every one still reads as the personal Shavit that went quiet in February. This rebuilds all of them, plus a Meta Business Suite cockpit and a YouTube channel to establish, into one real-estate operator brand, using footage and photos we already made, on a calm 2 to 3-post-a-week rhythm. Instagram is the deep-dive (it's the flagship); Section 02 covers the full footprint. Reputation, not noise.

BRAND: LIVE WITH US. WORK WITH US.

2-3 POSTS / WEEK

YOUR NEW PROFILE, AT A GLANCE

Hover any tile to read what it is. The three 📌 tiles are the pinned first impression. It's a deliberate mix of reels and house photos, all built from footage and photos that already exist.

BIO The tagline leads, the grid explains

“Live with us. Work with us.” up top, then the proof (Midwest, three states) and an arrow into the before/after grid. Today the bio is a name, two flags and a house emoji, it makes a 5k-follower account look dormant. The link stays on shavitrootman.com.

ACCOUNT Switch to a Business account

Same handle, same verified check. Unlocks Insights (reach, saves, profile taps), the numbers the scorecard runs on, and the category label + contact button. This is your call, Shavit; it changes nothing a visitor loses.

PINNED Lead with the brand, not 2023

The top row becomes: the brand film, the portfolio reel, and one flagship before/after. The Israel & family posts aren’t deleted, they move into a Highlight (“Roots”), so the human story stays without being the first thing a lender or partner sees.

GRID A mix of reels and house photos

Not an all-video wall. Cinematic reels (▶ icon) sit next to photo carousels of the houses (🖼 icon), finished interiors, room-by-room, before/after stills. The variety is what makes it read as a real, lived-in account.

NOT ONE ACCOUNT, THE WHOLE FOOTPRINT

Instagram is the flagship, but you already exist on four platforms, and every one of them still points at the personal Shavit, not the brand. Each is live, each was found and read. Below, each one gets the same mockup treatment as the Instagram profile above, this is what it looks like rebuilt. Same voice everywhere: Live with us. Work with us.

NOW Facebook, a personal profile

Today it's facebook.com/shavit.rootman, a personal profile, login-gated, mixed personal, no category, and it can't be scheduled or measured.

REVISED What changes

Stand up a proper Business Page: category, cover, the locked intro copy, and a pinned brand film. A Page is the only thing Meta Business Suite can automate and pull Insights from.

Keep the personal profile as-is, this is a new Page beside it, not a replacement.

NOW

LinkedIn, reads like a résumé

linkedin.com/in/shavitrootman, “Founder, Charger Property Management,” older personal / job-seeking posts. 500+ connections, but it doesn’t say what the operation is.

REVISED

What changes

New headline and About aimed at the brand, a Featured row (brand film + top before/afters). Stays personal, it’s his profile, not a company page. It relaunches with an announcement post, drafted in full in the launch plan (Section 07).

This is the exciting one: LinkedIn is where the operator audience lives, so the rebrand goes out loud here. GUARDRAIL: portfolio & reputation only, never a public “invest with me” ask (Reg D solicitation risk).

NOW Meta Business Suite, not connected

FB and IG are posted to by hand, one app at a time, no shared queue, no unified numbers, no buffer against a quiet week.

REVISED What changes

One control panel over the new FB Page + Instagram: schedule both at once 1-2 weeks ahead, one inbox, and an Insights export that drops straight into the scorecard.

This is what makes 2-3 posts/week across two platforms a ~30-min/week job. The reliability moat, automated. Needs the FB Page above to exist first.

REVISED What changes

Reposition, don’t replace. Keep the “Community Impact Made Profitable” line (it fits the second-chance mission) and aim it at one project deep-dive a month.

YouTube, not established yet

There's no channel today. The value prop already names YouTube as a home for the signature film alongside IG and TikTok, right now that home doesn't exist.

REVISED

What changes

Establish the channel as the long-form house: the brand film pinned, plus full before/after project tours that don't fit in a 60-second reel. The one place the whole story runs start to finish.

Lowest urgency of the six, stand it up when the first long cut is ready. Until then it holds the brand film and the handle, so the name is claimed.

One link, one order. Every bio points to shavitrootman.com/links, a single branded link page (no third-party logo) listing, in this order: Website → Facebook → LinkedIn → Substack. Change a destination once, it updates everywhere.

HOW WE REVAMP WITHOUT GOING BLANK

The #1 worry with a rebrand: “do we wipe 57 posts and start from an empty grid?” No. We never delete in bulk, and the account is never blank for a single day. The trick is to layer new on top first, then quietly retire the old, and on Instagram you Archive (hide, fully reversible) rather than delete, so nothing is ever lost.

DAY 1

Reframe, remove nothing

Switch to Business, swap the bio, add the 5 highlights, and re-pin the top 3. Every old post still sits there, but the first impression is already the new brand. A 20-minute change that makes the account feel reborn without touching the grid.

WEEKS 1-4

Layer new on top

Start posting the branded content, 2-3x/week. New posts land at the top, so the grid fills up and drifts the old stuff down naturally. Post count goes up, never down.

WEEKS 3-8

Quietly retire, matched 1:1

As branded rows build, Archive 2-3 weak old posts a week, only as fast as new ones go up. The total count stays flat-to-climbing, the grid is never patchy, and archived posts are recoverable (and re-usable).

BY WEEK 12

One operation, top to bottom

The top 3-4 rows are fully branded. Anything below is either archived or intentionally kept. The account reads as one operation, and it was never once blank along the way.

WATCH THE GRID, WEEK BY WEEK

Left to right: the same account, transforming. New branded posts (gold/brass tiles) fill from the top; the striped tiles are your existing posts, retiring a few at a time. Notice the post count only ever climbs.

THE KEEP / REFORMAT / ARCHIVE RULE

✓ Keep

Genuine property before/afters & finished-home carousels. On-brand already, we just reformat them into the template over time.

🔄 Reformat

Strong stories shot in low quality. Re-edit the good ones into the new template and re-post as fresh content.

⬇️ Archive

Random, off-brand, or low-quality one-offs. Hidden (not deleted), a few a week, only as new posts replace them.

🇮🇱 Re-home

The Israel & family posts move into the “Roots” highlight, the human story stays visible without leading the grid.

Net effect: on any given day a visitor sees a full, on-brand grid. There is no “under construction” phase, the revamp happens live and invisibly, one post at a time.

BEFORE & AFTER: THE BIO

The bio is the one piece of copy every visitor reads. Here’s the swap (kept under Instagram’s 150-character limit).

 The before and after

 shavitrootman.com/links

Name field: Shavit Rootman · Category: Property Management Company. The tagline leads; the grid does the explaining. The   flags move into the “Roots” highlight, the identity is intact, the brand line is now the first thing read.

05 · HIGHLIGHTS

FIVE HIGHLIGHTS THAT DO THE SELLING

Highlights are the permanent menu under your bio. Five, each with a brass-ringed cover, so a first-time visitor can navigate your whole story in five taps.

THE STANDARD

The 45s brand film / manifesto. First thing a stranger taps, “who is this operator, and what do they believe.”

BEFORE · AFTER

The signature format. Every transformation reveal lives here, the highest-save content, one tap away.

PORTFOLIO

The scale story: three states, MI · OH · IN, the two portfolio reels, the map. Proof of an operation, not a hobby.

SECOND CHANCE

The mission, second-chance housing, homes brought back with dignity. This is the reputation, not the transaction.

ROOTS

The human thread, Shavit, the Rootman clan, Israel. Kept and re-homed here (not scrubbed): authenticity the 5k base already follows him for.

WHAT WE POST, AND HOW OFTEN

Five pillars keep the grid varied without ever guessing what to post. The mix leans on transformations (they get saved and shared the most) while keeping the mission and the human side in frame.

Transformations 40%

Before → after reveals. The signature format and the highest-save content. Two matched photos = one post.

Portfolio & operator POV 25%

Reels, walkthroughs, “inside the operation.” Proof of scale: three states, one crew.

The mission 15%

Second-chance housing, community, dignity. The reputation layer, why this operation is different.

The human / roots 10%

Shavit, the team, Israel, behind-the-scenes. The authenticity your 5k base already follows you for.

Education / market 10%

“BRRRR, explained.” “What it cost / what it became.” Quiet authority that ages well.

A CALM RELAUNCH, 2-3 POSTS A WEEK

No explosion. A steady reactivation of the base you already have. Weekly template: a transformation early week, a portfolio/education mid-week, and an optional mission/human post to close it out. Light Stories 2-3x a week.

PHASE	WEEKS	WHAT HAPPENS	ANCHOR POSTS
Relaunch	1-2	“We’re back, here’s the standard.” Pin the brand film, drop Reel 1, run the first flagship before/after.	Brand film · Portfolio reel · River Street B/A
Rhythm	3-6	Lock the weekly cadence and rotate the pillars. Deploy the before/after library one at a time.	East St. Joe · Larchmere · 61 Salem · Reel 2
Compound	7-12	Double down on the best-performing format, publish the first mission story, log the first inbound. First monthly “state of the brand” note to you.	Second-chance story · captioned walk-throughs · collage film

DAY 1, THE RELAUNCH ANNOUNCEMENT, DRAFTED

Before the first before/after, one post says out loud that the brand is back and different. Same message on LinkedIn (the operator room) and Facebook (the community), tuned to each. Copy-paste ready.

Shavit Rootman · personal profile

Three years ago I bought a house in the Midwest that everyone told me to walk away from.

Today we operate across three states, Michigan, Ohio, and Indiana, and I have never been prouder of the work.

So it is time the brand caught up to it.

Today I am relaunching Shavit Rootman. New look, one standard, and one line that says everything we believe:

Live with us. Work with us.

We buy what everyone else passed on. We rebuild it to a standard we would live in ourselves. Then we stay and manage it like we intend to keep it, because we do.

Over the next 90 days I am going to show you the work. Every project, before and after, start to finish. The houses that fought us, and the ones that changed a family's year.

Follow along. The best of it is still being built.

Live with us. Work with us.

 Facebook Shavit Rootman · Business Page

Something new, and a long time coming.

Today we are relaunching Shavit Rootman.

For years we have quietly done one thing: take homes that were written off and bring them back to life. Homes across three states, rebuilt to a standard we would live in ourselves.

Now the brand finally matches the work. New look, one promise:

Live with us. Work with us.

We buy what everyone else passed on. We rebuild it room by room. And we stay, because a house is only worth what it means to the people who live in it.

Over the next few months we are opening the doors. Every project, before and after, so you can see exactly how it gets done.

Follow the page and come along for the ride. The before is where every good story starts.

Live with us. Work with us.

WEEK 1, THE FIRST POST, DRAFTED

The relaunch opens on the strongest story you have: River Street. Here is the actual post, caption and all, plus the window to publish it in. This is the template every before/after follows.

shavitness

River Street, Hillsdale.

A friend’s dad reached out after his daughter graduated. He remembered how we treat our own homes, and he wanted the same for his. Not to flip it. To have it commemorated.

On paper it wasn’t our best deal. We bought it anyway, and we took the financial step of a full, substantial renovation. Down to the studs, rebuilt room by room, every finish chosen like we were the ones moving in.

Some houses you buy for the numbers. This one we did for the person who trusted us with it.

Swipe for the before.

Live with us. Work with us.

THE REEL

River Street before and after

The pinned flagship. A friend’s father asked Shavit to take on the family home after his daughter graduated, wanting it treated the way we treat our own. The purchase was not the strongest deal on paper, so the story is the value: trust repaid with a full rebuild.

THE RENOVATION

What the reel shows

Taken down to the studs and rebuilt room by room, finishes chosen to a live-in standard, not a flip standard. Matched before and after angles carry the reveal.

When to post: Tuesday or Wednesday, 12:00 to 12:30 PM ET. That midday lunch scroll is the highest-intent window for this audience. If you miss it, anywhere in the 12 to 2 PM range still lands. Not a Monday, not after 9 PM.

THE NUMBERS THIS FEEDS

Reputation is the goal, so these are the signals we track, measured over a 6-month window, reported to you monthly. These are targets and method, not promises, real figures start the day the account switches to Business and Insights turn on.

CADENCE ADHERENCE

100% of planned posts ship

The controllable win. A 2-week buffer means the brand never goes quiet again.

ENGAGEMENT RATE

Hold & lift vs today

Current likes run ~1.6-2.3% of followers. Before/after carry the highest save rate, lead with them.

SAVES + SHARES

The reputation signal

Saves & shares matter more than likes for a brand play. Tracked monthly.

REACH REACTIVATION

Lift vs dormant baseline

Waking the 5,047 base and measuring the climb over 90 days.

INBOUND LOGGED

DMs · mentions · “saw your stuff”

Every inbound screenshotted, the evidence that reputation is actually moving.

FOLLOWERS (NET NEW)

Secondary

Nice, not the point. Reputation over raw growth, exactly as we agreed.

Everything here honors the plan we set: maintenance and reputation, not virality. The goal is an account that looks alive, on-brand, and never goes quiet, the two things that actually can't be faked: taste and reliability.

WHAT HAPPENS NEXT

Nothing changes on your account until you say go. This is a draft for you to react to.

You react

Tell me what lands and what doesn't, bio wording, which posts get pinned, the highlight names.

Switch to Business

One toggle (your call). Same handle, same check, Insights turn on so we can measure.

Profile refresh

New bio, five highlight covers, re-pin the top three. A 20-minute afternoon.

Relaunch week

Brand film goes up, the schedule starts, and the account is alive again, on autopilot from there.
