1. River Street Hillsdale, MI

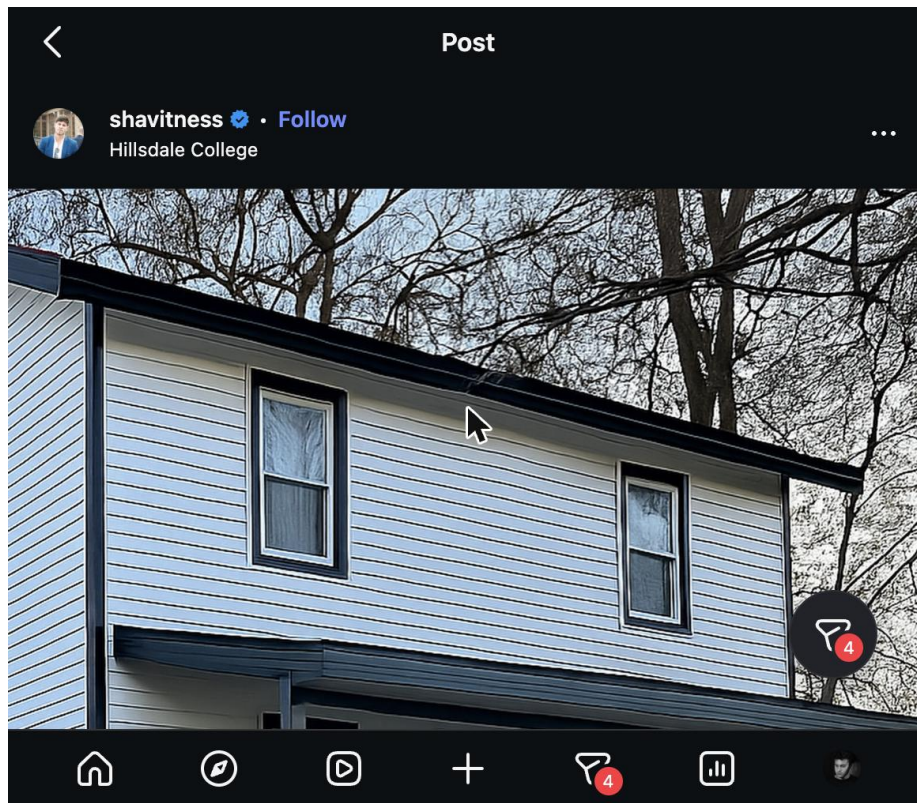

Hillsdale, Michigan | Posted: March 2026

A full before-and-after renovation of a solid older home near Hillsdale College. The team reworked the layout and made it modern and functional, adding a downstairs tub for kids, a parents' ensuite with in-suite laundry, a bright dining area, and a clean kitchen. Marketed as a desirable rental in a tight market near the college; described as approaching their 40th door in Hillsdale.

2. 34 Mead Street Hillsdale, MI

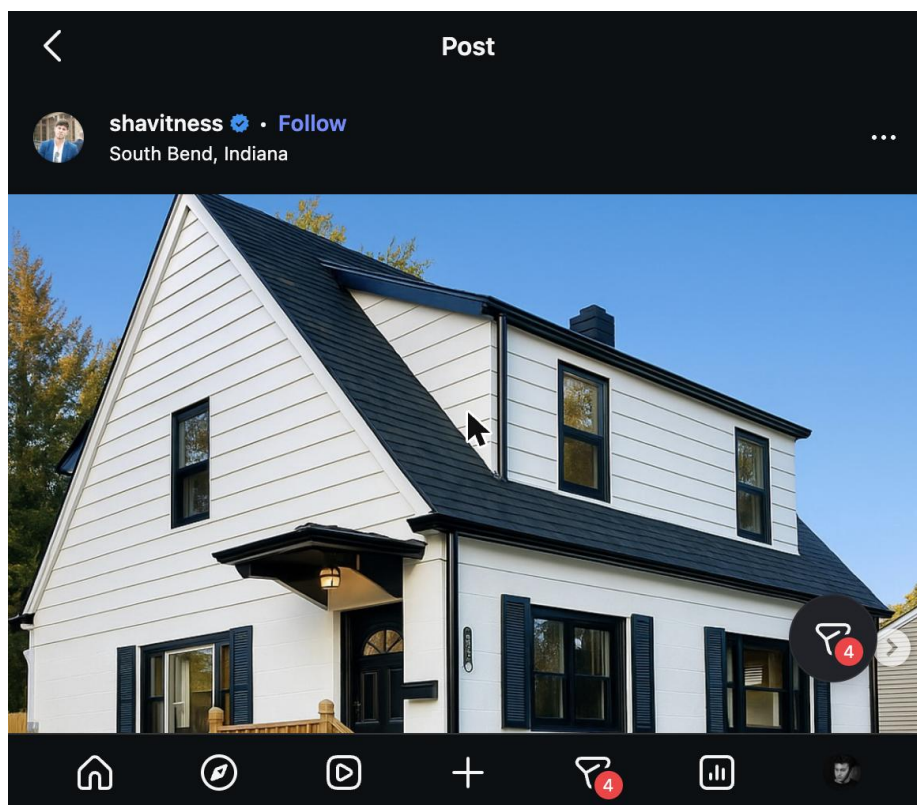

Hillsdale, Michigan | Posted: December 2025

Purchased for about $57,500 from an owner in a difficult situation. The project uncovered structural damage and unsafe conditions, which led the company to form its own in-house construction team. A full-cycle BRRRR deal (buy, rehab, rent, refinance, repeat): sourced via direct mail, fully renovated, rented at top market rate, and headed into a refinance projected to return over 5x the initial cash invested.

3. 2217 Parkview Pl South Bend, IN

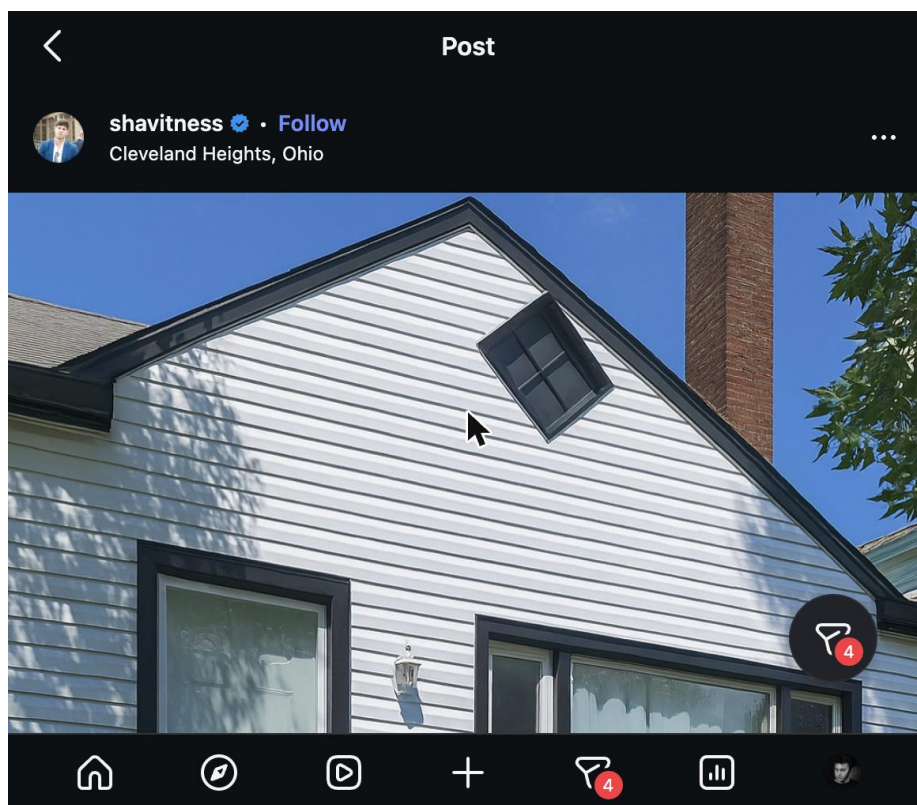

South Bend, Indiana | Posted: October 2025

A foreclosure-auction buy (bought sight-unseen) secured for under $115K, versus comps around $220K. Renovated inside and out in just under three weeks for under $30K new decks, doors, flooring, refinished hardwood, appliances, kitchen/bath updates, AC and water heater. Co-owned with a first-time investor partner. Rented to a new tenant; estimated post-rehab value $250K+.

4. Cleveland Heights Transformation OH

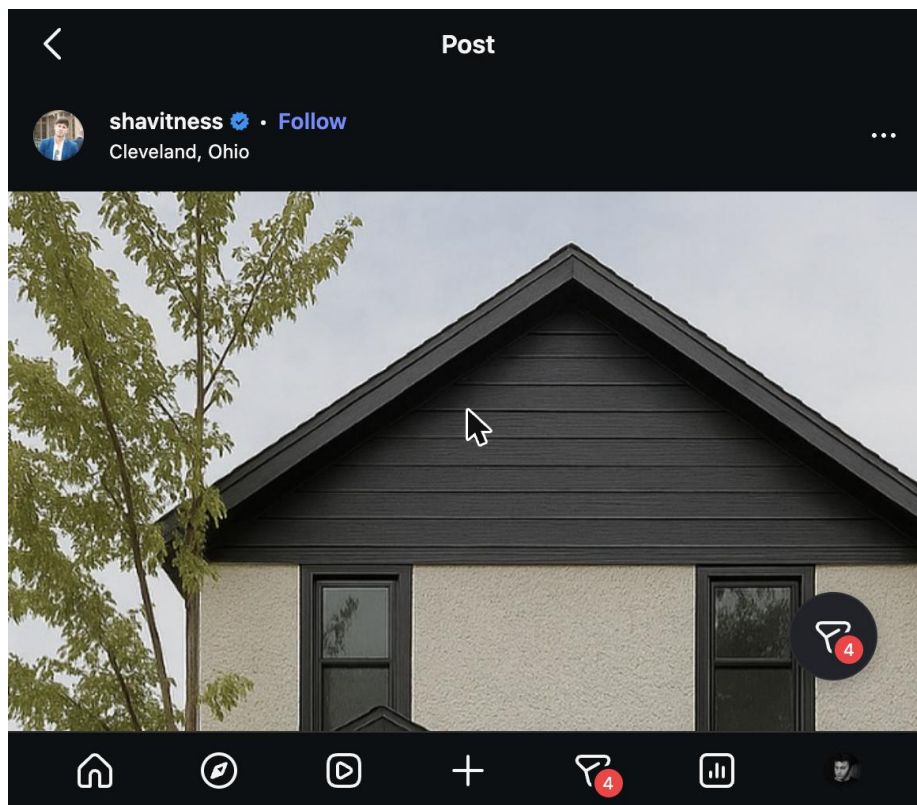

Cleveland Heights, Ohio | Posted: September 2025

An FHA-loan purchase that turned complicated when existing Section 8 tenants stayed on at a voucher below the mortgage. Rather than fight it, the team worked with the housing authority to get two approved rent increases and improved the home (exterior paint, woodwork, landscaping, cabinetry, basement cleanup). Roughly $100K in value added over 3.5 years, refinancing from FHA into a commercial DSCR loan with positive monthly cash flow.

5. West Side Cleveland OH

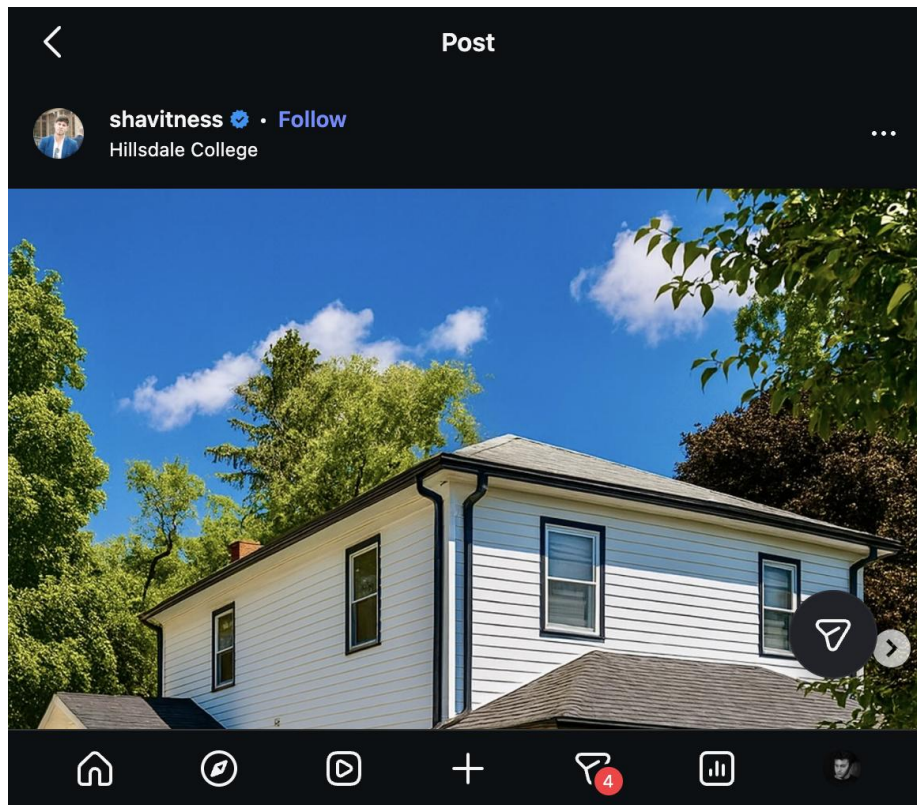

Cleveland, Ohio | Posted: September 2025

Acquired through a wholesaler, this older home needed extensive repairs. The team used disciplined, AI-assisted planning to prioritize spending where it added value: a fully finished basement (drywall, paint, flooring, drop ceiling), a new furnace bought cash at a 30% saving, and various old-home framing/trim fixes. Now rented at $1,700/month, with the BRRRR refinance/appraisal pending.

6. 61 Salem Street Hillsdale, MI

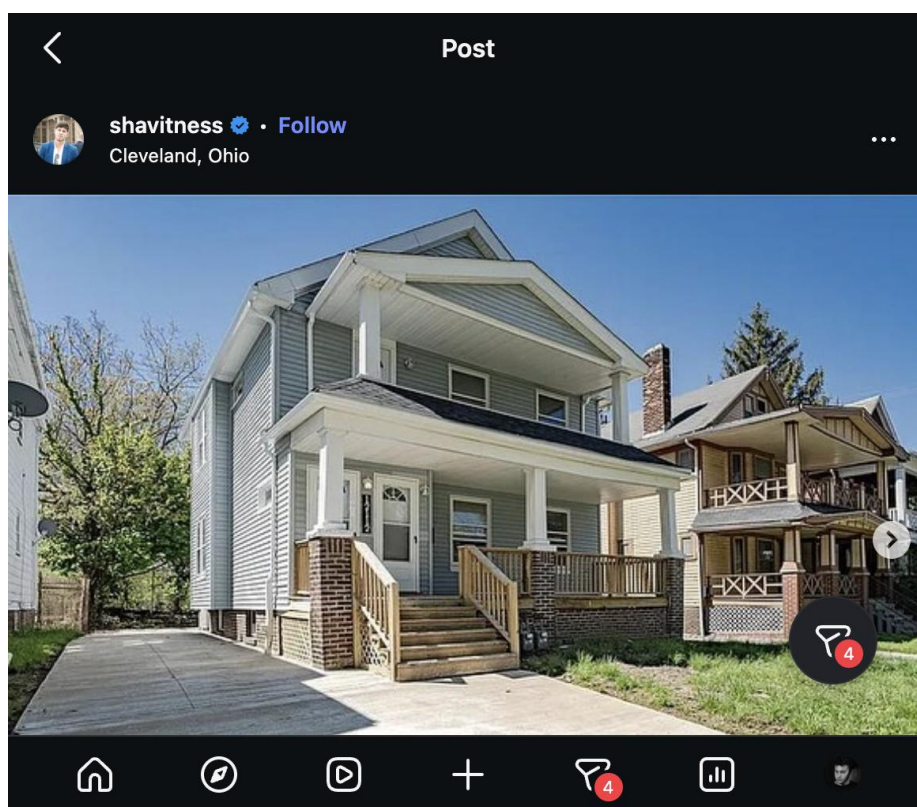

Hillsdale, Michigan | Posted: August 2025

One of the company's earliest properties, bought before they fully adopted the BRRRR strategy. After a tree collapsed on the home, they turned the setback into an opportunity: roughly $50K in renovations added about $140K in value, including a brand-new garage and the company's signature black-and-white finishes. Stabilized with strong tenants and used as a milestone for growing the maintenance crew.

7. Larchmere Duplex (Buckingham) Cleveland, OH

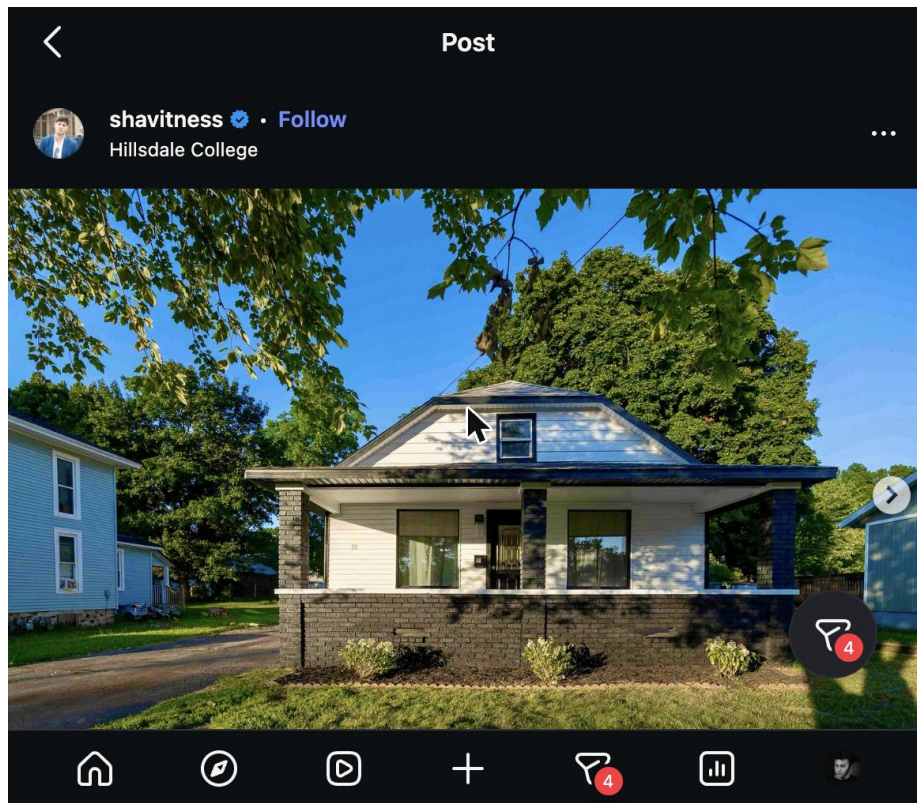

Cleveland, Ohio | Posted: July 2025

A duplex acquired in partnership after two other buyers fell through, ultimately secured about 15% below the original asking price. The deal surfaced an engineering challenge that was solved with the partner's family expertise. Self-funded and brought to market as another quality rental in Cleveland's Larchmere neighborhood.

8. East Saint Joe Hillsdale, MI

Hillsdale, Michigan | Posted: July 2025

A property the team lost to another investor in spring, then reacquired months later when that buyer backed out. They self-funded a complete revival of a rundown home, designing neutral interiors with premium finishes and the signature black-and-white exterior. Grew the team mid-project, hiring an operations manager and assistant. Delivered as a high-end rental.

9. Budlong Street Duplex Hillsdale, MI

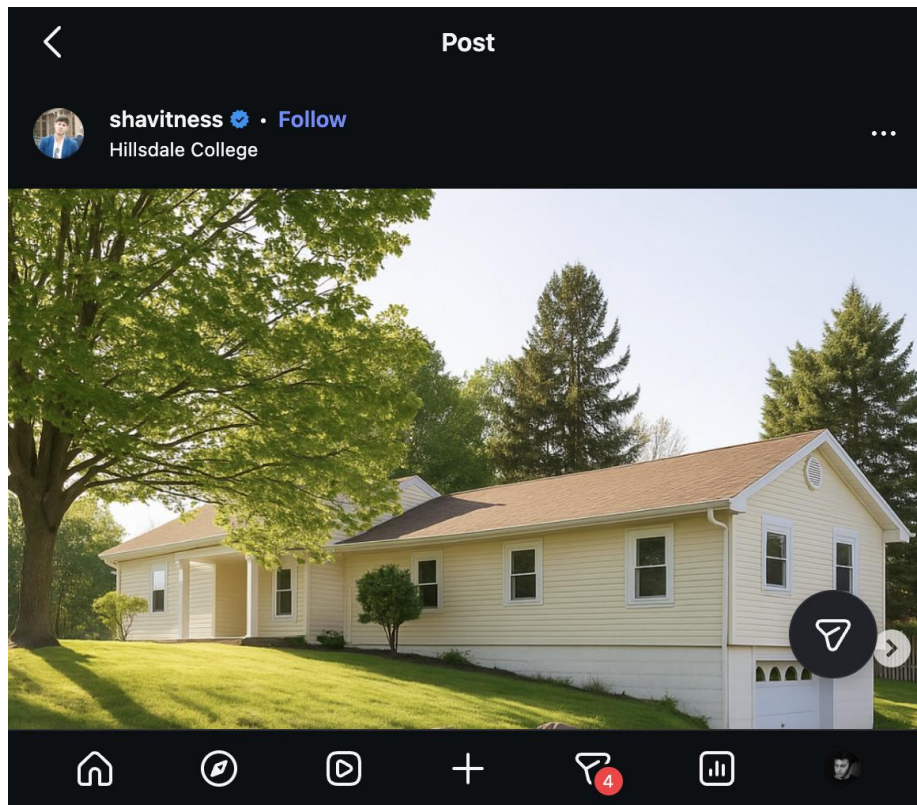

Hillsdale, Michigan | Posted: May 2025

A tenant-occupied duplex bought through a local real estate office from a developer, requiring a full renovation of the lower unit. The upstairs older couple were worried about rent changes, so the team negotiated a gradual, fair plan. Stayed on budget despite Hillsdale's steep property taxes and code-compliance hurdles; now entering the refinance phase of the BRRRR strategy.

10. "Second Chance" Ranch Hillsdale, MI

Hillsdale, Michigan | Posted: May 2025

Part of the company's "Second Chance" housing initiative. One of their toughest turnarounds: after a long eviction and an expired occupancy permit that delayed access, the previous tenant left the home in very poor condition. The team overhauled their screening and legal processes, then partially replaced the roof, ozone-treated for odors, deep-cleaned and repainted throughout, soft-washed the exterior, redid landscaping, replaced fixtures/appliances, hauled out three dumpsters of debris, and pressure-washed all concrete before welcoming new tenants.
